What do you like about the Town you live in?

- There are several things that make me like the town I live in. First thing is the peace and relaxation that roams the atmosphere. Second thing is when I wave to a car, bicyclist, or jogger going by they always wave back. Thirdly, the unrestricted environment where people have the freedom to ride their horses or go for a pleasant bicycle ride.

What don't you like about your Town?

- None.

What kinds of things would you like to see in your Town, for exercise, fun, religion, sports, the arts, etc.?

- I think that there should be different types of "workshops" held for the diversity of age groups. For instance, there should be volunteer groups that get together to just pick up litter along the sides of roads. Another one could be where a group of volunteers can help residents with odds and ends jobs. For the younger ones (3-10 years of age) can participate in painting, coloring, or pottery classes. The point is to bring the local community closer and to become more familiar and comfortable with the local residents. Make new friends for say.

How would you get the things you mentioned in #3 for your Town? What would you do to make it happen?

- With the workshops mentioned above the parents can put forward a certain amount of money to aid in buying the materials needed. For the volunteer groups, the participants can just bring work gloves and hats – common aids like those. There should be a designated area in the "Southwest Rancher" most of it is aimed towards the adult residents and nothing to the younger residents. There should be a balance of workshops for fun and education and those for deciding the fate of the neighborhood.
